"Rest in the Whirlwind--Understanding How God Does Member Care" Henry Stewart, Barnabas International

How does God work to reach to us when we can not reach to Him? How does He provide rest to weary pastors and missionaries in the midst of the stress of life and ministry? Using a case study method, we will see how God approaches a weak and weary global worker. How can we learn from and practice God's approach to the care of a soul?

"Serving Singles in Ministry" Betsy Wombach and Sue Thomson, SEND, International

Did you know that on some mission fields, singles outnumber married couples? This workshop focuses on understanding and enabling single missionaries to be all the Lord called them to be. Learn how to partner with and come alongside this large and effective force in world evangelism.

"The Identity Puzzle: Multi-Cultural Wholeness" Michele Phoenix, Global Outreach Mission

Identifying how heritage, experiences and losses determine a Third Culture Kid's perspective; exploring how they can find wholeness without losing parts of their identity."

"Servant Self-Care: Living Water, Not Dry Cisterns" Roger Boyd, Alonside Ministries

God has provided "living water" for us, real rest and JOY that is a real experience. But often misunderstandings of what the Bible says, or false expectations and assumptions, keep us from God's refreshment. This seminar will look at some of the healthy practices of good "self-care" as well as some of the beliefs and practices that often prevent missionaries and pastors from taking good care of themselves.

"Mastering Burn-Out: Signs and Symptoms" Jack Woodburn, Colonial Woods Christian Counseling Center.

One of the tragic paradoxes of burn out is that it tends to affect people who are the most dedicated, highly motivated, and energetic. Why would that be? This seminar will help us understand how to keep the sort of balance in our lives that God has designed, not only for our benefit, but as a model for those we serve in our churches an on the mission field.
